On January 30, 2020, the WHO declared the COVID-19 outbreak a global health emergency. On March 11, 2020, the WHO declared COVID-19 a global pandemic. Despite public health responses aimed at containing the disease and delaying the spread, several countries have been confronted with a critical care crisis, and more countries will almost certainly follow.

The evolving outbreak of corona virus disease 2019 (COVID-19) is requiring social distancing and other measures to protect public health. However, messaging has been inconsistent and unclear.
To determine COVID-19 awareness, knowledge, attitudes, and related behaviors among U.S. adults who are more vulnerable to complications of infection because of age and morbid conditions.

Major prevention methods recommended by the WHO include: regularly and thoroughly cleaning hands with an alcohol-based hand rub or washing them with soap and water, maintaining social/physical distancing, avoiding touching eyes, nose and mouth, and different protection measures based on the situations.

There is a need for regular educational interventions and training programs on infection control practices for COVID-19 across all healthcare professions. occupational health and safety are of paramount importance to minimize risk of transmission to healthcare professionals and provide optimal care for patients.
